

Focusing on You: Head and Neck Cancer Patients Enjoy Life After Treatment

Sylvester Comprehensive Cancer Center is home to one of the largest head and neck cancer treatment groups in the country.

Donald Weed, M.D., FACS, a head and neck surgeon at Sylvester Comprehensive Cancer Center, explains how patient engagement in their rehabilitation, along with a multidisciplinary team approach to their treatment, is helping them live longer, healthier lives. Mike Pulver is one of those patients.

Content Type Video